

Supplemental Figure 1. Running occurred during periods of high arousal, as measured by pupil diameter. Curves show the probability distribution of recorded pupil diameters (normalized to the maximum diameter in each recording session), separately for sitting (red) and running (black).